Mr. John M. Boggs Is Chosen President of the State Board of Agriculture.

Borne to the Chair on the Shoulders of Two Muscular Members-Other Officers Elected -More About the Alleged Bribery.

The closing session of the Delegate Board of Agriculture yesterday was uneventful. The members of the delegate board, having elected the eight members the day before. did not find their services in further demand, and most of them returned to their rural homes. The story of the bribe failed to come out yesterday. It does not really seem any longer a matter of great consequence, as the papers have told the story, except in its minor details. Mr. Lockhart appeared willing to rehearse the tale, and the fact that he was has subjected him to a great strain, an equal number of his confreres being on each side of the question. one faction shouting "tell" and the other "doncher do it."

Hon. R. W. Thompson, of Terre Haute, who was on the programme for an address, sent a letter stating that on account of his age and so much sickness prevailing he deemed it imprudent to come. The address will be printed in the proceedings of the board, as will also a paper by E. H. Peed, of New Castle, on "Breeding and Raising of Horses," and one by Aaron Jones, of South Bend, on "The Danger of the Introduction of New Castle, or "The Danger of the Introduction of New Castle, or "The Danger of the Introduction of New Castle," duction of Noxious Weeds."

OLD BOARD'S LAST MEETING. At 10:30 A. M. the delegate board ad journed, and at 1:30 P. M. the State board proper went into session. A communication was read from J. R. Robinson, of this city, presenting a claim for $50 for assisting the board to obtain the good opinion of the State press and the people of Indianapolis. It was moved that the claim be not entertained, and that the letter be returned to him. The motion carried.

Messrs. Lockhart, Sieg and Sankey were appointed to draft resolutions recognizing the services of W. B. Seward to the board during his twenty years of membership. Mr. Seward is a manufacturer, not a farmer, and his training and business education had made him especially valuable to the board. It will be remembered that he was one of the State-house Commissioners. Samuel Bowman was re-elected as the board's representative on the Indiana Live-stock Com-

A resolution was adopted that hereafter the superintendent of the fair shall pay all moneys collected to the secretary, who, in turn, shall pay them to the treasurer, and that no money shall be paid out by the superintendent, except on the order of the secretary and treasurer.

Papers were read by Hon. James A. Mount on "County Fairs," by Mrs. L. D. Worley on "Dairy Interests in Indiana," and by Mrs. Virginia C. Meredith on "Woman's Department of the World's Columbian Exposition.

NEW BOARD ORGANIZES. After transacting some minor business as a wind-up of the career of the old board President Banks said, "There being no further business before the board, I declare this present Board of Agrinow and forever more adjourned," and the little hickory gavel fell with a thud that meant a death knell to members Berry, Seward and Mc-Clung, and the birth of a two years' work to members McCoy, Howland and Harris. Resolutions of respect and good will were passed by the old board, just prior to adjournment, upon W. B. Seward, one of the retiring members, who has been on the State Board of Agriculture for twenty

Half an hour was spent in chatting and holding a requiem mass over the dead board, and at 3:45 Secretary Bagley, the only of-ficer who survived the death of the old board, rapped for order. Mr. Lockhart moved that Mr. Sankey, a hold-over from the Ninth district, be made temporary chairman, and there being no objection, "the evangelist," as Mr. Sankey is affection-ately called, took the seat.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS. He announced that the new board would proceed at once to prepare their ballots for the election of officers, that of president coming nirst. Members Peed and Howland, the youngest and most active members of the board, were appointed tellers, and the election proceeded forth with. The result of the first ballot showed little opposition to Mr. John M. Boggs, of the Twelfth district, as the choice for the presiding officer, he receiving 11 votes; J. Q. A. Seig (born in John Quincy Adams's reign, and named for that statesman), 2, and James F. McCoy, the newly-elected successor of Mr. Berry, from the Second, 1.

The members then began to scribble for the vote for a vice-president. This resulted in the election of Mr. Jasper N. Davidson by eight votes, just enough to constitute a choice; Mr. Sankey received four, and Mr. Harris and Mr. Maze one each. For the office of secretary there was no opposition, Mr. Leon T. Bagley, the present incumbent receiving a unaminous vote of The same was true of Mr. Sylvester Johnson, the treasurer, all fourteen votes being cast for him.

Mr. E. H. Peed, the member from the Eighth district, was also the unanimous choice of the board for general superintendent, Mr. C. E. Merritield, the superintendent for four years, not being a candidate for re-election. For executive committee, four to elect the members receiving the greatest number of votes were Banks, Officer, Sankey and Maze, and they were declared duly

Messrs. Hamilton and Davidson were absent on account of sickness, but sent their proxies to Secretary Bagley on the vote for

MR. BOGGS ESCORTED TO THE CHAIR. Messrs. Banks, Maze and Jones were appointed a committee to escort the new president to the chair. The word "escort" implies dignity, trust and honor of bearing, but in this case it proved a misnomer, for as soon as the escorting com mittee had been named, those gentlemen buttoned up their coats and spat upon their hands as they glared in a business-like manner at Mr. Boggs. "Grab him by the leg," said Mr. Banks as he made a dive for Boggs's right shin much after the fashion of a butcher throwing a frisky shoat. "l'inion his arms there, Jones," said Maze, and up they boosted the new executive on their shoulders and bore him to the chair, kicking like a two-year-old just broken to harness. The whole affair was highly ludi-crous, and suggested a "rush" in the Pur-due-Butler foot-ball game more than any-

President Boggs, after he had gotten his breath, said that he was neither an athlete nor a speech-maker, but he hoped that, with the assistance of the board, he would be able to fullfil the requirements of his office to the satisfaction of all, and that the first fair on the new grounds would be worthy of the State.

Hiram Houghton, on behalf of the manufacturers, again asked the board for advice regarding the moving of their ex-bibit halls. It had been underby the implement men that they must have their buildings off the grounds by March 22, but the president announced that the time had been extended to May 1, so Mr. Houghton said that would satisfy all. Representatives from the Cen-tral Labor Union and the Indiana Carpenters' Union appeared before the board to press their claims in behalf of securing the assurances of the board that they would employ union men in the construction of their new buildings. Bruce Carr presented the efforts of John Lackey and George Bronson, of Cambridge City, to secure the lease of the track on the new grounds. These gentlemen propose to lease the track for fifty-one weeks in the year, and promise to make it in every respect the greatest racecourse in Indiana, and in time one of the greatest in the West. Mr. Bronson spoke buildings are ready to be torn down at The next meeting will be held on Saturday, Feb. 9. Prior to the adjournment for the afternoon, Mr. Mitchell presented the following resolution, which was adopted: Resolved. That when the fitting up of the new fair grounds begins that no contracts be awarded to any member of the board, either directly or indirectly, as, should such contracts be so awarded to members of the board, their individual interests would become paramount to the Dined at the Columbia Club. The State Board of Agriculture was entertained at the Columbia Club last night by Mr. A. L. Mr. Wishard was the cipal hustler for the Shimer farm in the fight for the location of the new fair site. Notwithstanding the fact that the Shimer place was the only one of the four that didn't get a single vote in the balloting for a choice, yet Mr. Wishard saw fit to heap coals of fire by taking the board out to a hot quail supper at the Columbia Club.

Senator Mount's Paper. Senator J. A. Mount, of Shannondale, read an excellent paper on "County Fairs, Their Local Value and Their Relation to the State Fair." before the State Board of Agriculture vesterday afternoon. The Senator's views seemed to exactly coincide with those of the members of the board, and much applause greeted the reading of the paper. The Indiana Dairymen's Association made him an honorary memberlat its meeting last night.

Will Investigate To-Day. It was rumored last night that the State Board held a secret caucus for the purpose of "considering the boodle investigation." Ex-President Banks and President Boggs denied the rumor, and said that nothing whatever had been done in the matter, but that probably it would be brought up this morning when the board returned from the old fair ground.

LABOR TEMPLE ASSOCIATION.

Its Similarity to the Consumers' Gas Trust Makes It Obnoxious to Members.

The attendance at the meeting in the Criminal Court room last night, which was called by the railroad organizations, was not large, but was composed of an earnest body of wage-earners. H. M. Mount was called to preside and William Hugo was made secretary. The topic of discussion was the form of organization of the Labor Temple Association. It is based upon the law regulating trusts, passed March 6, 1889, and, in Judge Howe's opinion, must be wholly and absolutely a trust, thus giving the entire power to the board of trustees. The only objection broached by speakers was to Article X, which makes the trustees self-perpetuating, and to Article XII, which is as follows:

The title to and control of all property, real and personal, of said corporation, and the con-trol of all its capital stock, and the power to collect and disburse all its revenues and funds, from whatever source, and the power to make all contracts for and in behalf of said corpora-tion, shall be forever vested in said board of trustees and their successors in office, in trust, to carry out the objects of said corporation, subject to the conditions and limitations expressed

The opposition to a self-perpetuating board with such powers was led by Mr. Tamm, of German Typographical Union. His was one of the first unions to take a decided stand against this provision and to suggest something different. Mr. Tamm thought that the trustees should merely be custodians of the property and that the management should be vested in a board of directors, to be elected by the unions. Six of the nine members, he said, should be elected every year, as a guarantee against abuse of power.

C. W. Martin pointed out that under the law the organization must either be an absolute trust or a business corporation for profit, in which case the stock must be open to the public market. He shared, he said, in the objection to the absolute trust plan, and would be glad to learn of some plan by which a part of the powers of the trustees could be given to the directors. Henry Gale suggested that if a change is made in this section several other changes must be made. He favors, he said, a change in the objectionable article. The same opinion was expressed by Mr. Hugo, Mr. Clancey and others. Mr. Bly. of the engineers, said he didn't want to see the hands of the stockholders tied in this corporation, as they are in the Consumers' Gas Trust. He wants nothing more than the real estate committed to the control of the trustees. The discussion ended in a motion prevailing for the appointment of a committee of three, to seeme further legal advice and to invite Judge Howe to be present at the meeting to-night. The chairman appointed C. W. Martin, Cornelius meeting then adjourned. The necessary similarity, under the law, of the Labor Temple Association to the opnoxious Consumers' Gas Trust plan has been a stumbling block in the way of subscriptions. The point is illustrated in an incident in a meeting of the local division of railway engineers. The subject of the temple was presented by one of the members in a glowing speech. He was pleading for a large collective and individual subscription to the capital stock. In an unguarded moment he mentioned that the association was somewhat in the form of the Consumers' Trust. When he had finishe another member arose and said:

Kelly and Henry Gale for this work. The tioned the likeness to the Consumers' Gas Trust. If it's got to be like that count me out. One experience of that kind is enough in one lifetime." The difference between the gas trust and the labor temple organization, is that in the former the trustees not only perpetuate their own body, but elect also the directors. In the latter association the directors are to be elected by the stockholders, but can have no powers except such as are delegated to them by the board of trustees. The opposition to found to permit of the changes desired the success of the project is imperiled. Great interest attaches to the meeting to-night.

STATE DAIRYMEN MEET.

Several Papers Read by Members-New Officers Are Elected.

The Indiana State Dairymen's Association met at the State-house vesterday afternoon in annual session. Prof. C. S. Plumb, of Purdue University, presided. In the afternoon papers were read by E. H. Farrington, of Wisconsin, on "Some Recent Dairy Discoveries;" "What We Need in a Dairy Cow," D. H. Jenkins, city; "Those Little Details," J. H. Mourad; "Dairying," F. A. Tripp, Chicago. The next subject was a discussion of "The Making and Marketing of High-class Butter." Mrs. Laura D. Worley, the secretary, of Ellettsville, spoke from the experience of a Holstein and Jersey mixed breeder; Mrs. Virginia C. Meredith, of Cambridge City, as a short-horn breeder; Mrs. Calvin Fletcher, of Spencer, as a Holstein breeder, and Mrs. Kate M. Busick, of Wabash, as a Jersey

The meeting then adjourned until evenng, when it met at the Denison House. The following paper was read in the evening: "How to Start our Specialty," C. B. Harris, Goshen. Grand Jury Indictments and Criminal Trials -Divorces; Asked For-Sning for a Policy of Eight Thousand.

Sample Loftin's suit filed yesterday in the Superior Court against Joseph F. Flack. adds another chapter of litigation resulting from the rascality of John E. Sullivan, defaulting clerk of the courts. Loftin avers that he loaned Sullivan $10,000 on the undivided one-half of a piece of property, securing himself by a mortgage. Later on the undivided one-half of the same property, which was also secured by mortgage. This latter lien was assigned to Joseph F. Flack, the defendant, who, after Sullivan had fled and Loftin had foreclosed on the mortgage and bid in the property, redeemed it before the expiration of the limit of redemption. He received a deed for the property from the sheriff. The plaintiff asks now that the court subrogate his mortgage to all the rights of the second mortgage and make the property subject to his lien.

Charged with Stealing Diamonds. James Wilson is on trial in the Criminal Court for burglarizing the house of Mrs Ida Seibert, on Indiana avenue, and stealing three diamond rings. He was arrested by Detectives Thornton and James, who are the principal witnesses against him. One of the rings was recovered at Wilson's house after his arrest. He gave his wife the choice of two of the rings, telling her some of "the white folks" about Harry Walker's gambling-rooms, on Court street, had given them to him. She chose the one that fitted her and wore it to the theater. The stone in one of the rings was removed and put into a spiral for a shirt-stud. The trial is on before a jury.

Sanders, on the same charge, the victim being his wife; Emmett Wilson and John Shipman, for burglary and petit larceny, committed at Meyer's tobacco store; Edward Gregory, David Slaughter and Anthony Williams, each, and the latter two jointly, for petit larceny. McCulloch, yesterday filed a bond of $800, as guardian of her three infant Katie Hammerle, who is suing her husband Peter for divorce, on the ground of cruelty, asks for an order restraining the defendant from molesting her and their children at her home. The suit of Catharine Dieter against Michael Gimbel was yesterday decided by Judge Brown for the defendant. The money in litigation belongs to a dependent sister of the parties, a German mute woman. It was a question as to which should have the care of it.

BASE-BALL MEETING.

Several Cities Represented at the Chicago Conference-Prospects for Indianapolis.

Since the great base-ball meeting in this city, a few weeks ago, which resulted in the formation of a twelve-club National League and the absorption of the old Association, there has been curiosity to know what would become of a number of good ball towns which were "sold out" by the consolidation. It was considered probable that a new league would be formed to take up the secondary clubs, and the idea was very attractive to a host of wouldbe organizers. Accordingly John W. Speas, captain of the Kansas City club, sent out a call to eight of the principal Western clubs out of the big League, asking their presence at a meeting in Chicago to organize an eightclub circuit. This meeting was held at the Wellington Hotel yesterday. There were present from Kansas City J.

eight clubs, to receive applications and to arrange for the protection of the league. An adjournment was then taken subject to The league will be called the "Central League," and will be composed of Kansas City. Omaha, Minneapolis, St. Paul. Milwaukee, Indianapolis probably, and Columbus and Toledo, subject to certain contingencies. A meeting for the perfection of the or-ganization will be held soon, probably within a week. The following letter has been sent out by J. A. Williams, of Columbus, O.: There will be a meeting in this city on Mon day, Jan. 18, at Smith's European Hotel, for the purpose of organizing a base-ball league. Similar notices have been sent to the cities of Milwaukee, Indianapolis, Toledo. Buffalo, Rochester, Syracuse, Albany and Troy, N. Y., and Toronto, Ont. It is believed that from these cities the best and strongest organization in the country, outside of the big League, can be

Owing to the excess of good players on the market there has never been a more favorable opportunity to establish base-ball on a paying basis. The twelve-club League is pledged to encourage and foster minor leagues by just and equitable dealings. Please notify me as early as possible if your city will be represented at the meeting.

In the evening a musicale was given, Mrs. Hasbrouck and Mrs. Leon Bailey rendering a choice programme. Mrs. Hasbrouck has a beautiful, cultivated voice, and each song was a great pleasure. Mrs. Bailey was in excellent voice, and ber rich contralto is seldom heard to better advantage. The whole entertainment was informal and very delightful.

MRS. PEIRCE'S TEA. Mrs. R. B. F. Peirce has been the hostess for a series of the handsomest entertainments ever given in the city, and yesterday afternoon again extended her hospitalities. This was for a 5-o'clock tea in honor of Miss Porter. About thirty among the young married and unmarried women were invited, and assembled at the appointed hour, and were greeted by Mrs. Peirce, Miss Porter, Miss Van Valkenberg, Miss Peirce and their visitors, Miss Goode of Brooklyn, and Miss Seelye of Cleveland, in the elegant drawing-room. Eight guests were asked to be hostesses for the small tables and were given the names of the other guests who would be seated at the same table. At a signal Hart's orches-tra began to play, and the hostesses and groups went to the dining-rooms. In the north room there was a center-table for eight. where the hostess and guest of honor were seated, and four small tables. At each plate was a bunch of orchids and alpine violets tied with soft ribbons of colors to harmonize. The candle and lamp shades were orchids. At each plate was an orchid petal with the guests name and in the cen-Iverson, Milwaukee; Spud Farrish and | ter was an embossed card, in orchid form, Joseph Garneau, of Omaha, and others. | with the menu written thereon. In the south room were four small tables and the floral designs were all roses and the corsage bouquets were roses. The several courses were served on the most exquisite china and in daintiest manner, and all the table appointments were rich and rare. At 8 o'clock the gentlemen were expected, to spend the evening, and various entertain-ments were offered for the pleasure of the guests. Among the guests from away were Miss Goode, Miss Seelye, Mrs. Hardcastle, of Chicago; Miss Helen Smith, of Crawfordsville; Miss Reynolds, of Lafayette. Roses and carnations were sparsely used in the drawing-room, which is so full of European art treasures that no floral adornment is needed to enhance its beauty.
